Our company offers services for the purchase and sale of rail containers in Russia, China, and Europe.

FOOD PRODUCT DELIVERY

We've been specializing in food product transportation during 5 years.

Our consolidation experience allows us to accurately calculate the required amount of packing materials, minimizing the risk of packaging damage.

Our expertise in handling various cargo types reduces consolidation costs for our clients.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE SHIPPING

We have developed methods to protect glass-bottled products during all seasons as well. In summer, container temperatures can soar up to 30-50°C. That's why we add layers of insulation when packing to lower the temperature for products, and creating a thermos-like effect.

We use minimal packing material, and our precise calculations allow the client to save money. Products arrive at their destination unspoiled by heat and with no bottle or packaging damage.

In winter container loading is performed with the optimal amount of packing material. RTA also provides container insulation services, using 1, 2, or 3 layers of foam insulation. This service is offered at our facility to avoid delays during the container loading process. All operations are carried out swiftly, and the cargo is dispatched to the client's warehouse.

Our precise calculations result in reduced additional costs for clients when shipping consolidated cargo.
